U.S. Studies Beefing Up Of Manpower in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. policy makers are considering a further increase in American forces in South Viet Nam, reportedly including possible dispatch of some units of Army troops.

A boost in U.S. manpower, primarily to provide more security and support for American operations in Viet Nam, is believed to have been one of the possibilities discussed by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, when he visited Saigon last week.

The general reported to President Johnson Monday in a 90-minute conference the President held with the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the White House.

The White House subsequently disclosed that Gen. Johnson informed the President that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor plans to come to Washington for consultations within the next four weeks. It is understood that he will arrive in about two weeks.

Costly Good Samaritan Act Not Regretted

CLEVELAND (AP) — The price tag driver Edward Tribbett, 22, paid for being a good samaritan was high.

Last Jan. 18 he stopped in suburban Walton Hills to help a motorist whose car had run out of gas. He took the man to a nearby filling station, refueled and was holding a flashlight while the other man poured the gasoline.

The next thing Tribbett remembers was awakening in Suburban Community Hospital a few days later.

Another car had pinned him against the stalled vehicle. His left leg, severed below the knee, had to be amputated. His right leg was shattered. His right arm and shoulder were broken. Internal injuries necessitated removal of his gall bladder.

Tribbett was to have been married Feb. 20, but he broke the engagement "because I could not see myself, in this condition, offering my life to a young woman."

Tribbett said he always stopped to help stranded motorists because "If I am ever in trouble along the road, I expect someone will stop and help me."

"Of course I'd do it again," he said. "The question is now, whether I'll ever be able to."

Leftwing Danes Try Halt German Troops

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Leftwing demonstrators threw themselves in front of trucks bringing German troops into Denmark today for the first time since the Nazi occupation ended 20 years ago.

The German soldiers came to take part in a joint exercise with Danish troops.

Danish police dragged the small group of demonstrators off the road at a crossroads 200 yards north of the German-Danish border.

Arabs Mounting Demonstrations Against German Ties with Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Demonstrations against West Germany erupted in the Arab world today as establishment of diplomatic relations between West Germany and Israel drew near.

The Bonn government said two floors of its embassy in Baghdad, Iraq, were burned out during a demonstration. And Baghdad radio said 10,000 Iraqis marched on the embassy. The West German flag was hauled down from the roof but no damage was done to the building the radio said.

Both reports agreed that no embassy employees were hurt.

Equal Vote Plan Is Hailed

Negroes Map New March to 'Bama Capital

SELMA, Ala., (AP) — Negro leaders met today on plans to resume their tear-gas delayed highway march to Montgomery where Gov. George C. Wallace presides over a state they claim has denied them voting and other rights.

The major emphasis of the civil rights struggle in Alabama would then shift from Selma, where a massive eight-block march to the Dallas County courthouse was held Monday in memory of a slain Boston minister who came south to help the Negroes.

The marchers walked three abreast on the sidewalk, as specified in an order from Daniel H. Thomas.

Standing in the way of the 50-mile march is a federal judge's injunction, plus state and county officers.

A hearing is under way now in Montgomery in the judge's court over whether to permit the march. Wallace says he will abide by the court's decision.

The memorial march from Browns Chapel A.M.E. Church to the courthouse was led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., joined by some of the nation's leading clergymen. Almost 4,000 persons walked to the courthouse behind King after the Nobel Peace Prize winner said the Boston minister, the Rev. James J. Reeb, "demonstrated the conscience of the nation" by coming here.

Gun Spree In Tavern Brings Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A tavern patron was killed and his nephew and a waitress were critically wounded Monday night when a young man went on a shooting spree, police reported.

Dead was Carl Bartee, 38, of New Carlisle. His nephew, Roland Lodwick, 29, also of New Carlisle, and the waitress, Ruth Sherman, 43, were taken to Miami Valley Hospital, where both were listed in critical condition.

The two men and the waitress were playing a bowling game in the rear of the tavern when a young, brown-haired man entered. Miss Sherman talked with the man briefly and he then joined them for a few games before leaving to make a phone call in a nearby booth.

A few minutes later Lodwick heard several shots and saw Bartee fall to the floor. Lodwick told police the man then turned and shot Miss Sherman twice.

Lodwick said he grabbed for the gun and it misfired several times before it fired as he struggled with the man. Lodwick said he managed to stumble outside the bar in search of help before collapsing.

Police said Lodwick and Miss Sherman described the gunman as being in his late 20s, about 5-foot-7, 150 pounds and dressed in a black jacket and black trousers.

Questions, Answers on Vote Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are questions and answers concerning President Johnson's proposal to end racial discrimination against prospective voters:

Q. What is the objective of the voting rights bill?

A. To strike down what the administration feels are artificial barriers used by white officials to discriminate against Negroes seeking to exercise their voting rights at any level — federal, state or local.

Q. How will it accomplish that objective?

A. By doing away with all tests that have been used to discriminate and limiting voting eligibility requirements to a simple few: age, residence, mental competence and the lack of felony convictions. Furthermore, the bill will provide for federal officials to register citizens — and take their vote, if need be — if state or local officials continue to discriminate.

Q. Where would the new law apply?

A. It would apply in states — or other electoral subdivisions — that employ voter qualification tests, and where less than 50 per cent of the eligible adult population is registered or voted in the November 1964 election.

Q. What states fit that description?

A. Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Louisiana and Alaska. (Administration officials do not allege voter discrimination in Alaska. One pointed out that "the reason it is cold in November.") It also would apply to counties or other political subdivisions in other states.

Q. Does the bill mean federal registrars will immediately take over the registration job in the affected states?

A. No: the administration hopes the law striking down the so-called artificial tests will induce voluntary compliance by state and local officials. But the law would allow federal officers to do the job if the local registrars continued to balk.

Q. What will trigger the law in a particular area?

Bipartisan OK Is Given to LBJ Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson drew strong backing today from both Democratic and Republican ranks in his call for speedy congressional action to assure equal voting rights for all Americans.

Addressing a joint session of Congress, Johnson said Monday night that "the time for waiting is gone . . . from outside this chamber is the outraged conscience of a nation — and the harsh judgment of history on our acts."

He said "the cries of pain, and the hymns and protests of oppressed people" must be answered without delay, hesitation or compromise.

The President told the crowded House chamber that last week's violence at Selma, Ala. — where state troopers used billy clubs and tear gas to halt a march by civil rights demonstrators — like Lexington, Concord and Appomattox was "a turning point in man's unending search for freedom."

Republicans and Democrats from the North and West indicated general agreement with Johnson's objectives and with his plan for a "simple, uniform standard" and the elimination of "restrictions to voting in all elections — federal, state and local — which have been used to deny Negroes the right to vote."

What appeared to be a definite minority — mainly from six Southern states primarily affected — threatened delaying tactics against the legislation, which Johnson said he would send to Congress Wednesday after outlining it to congressional leaders today.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said he would filibuster against the measure.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said his House Judiciary Committee would start hearings on the bill week from today and predicted House action by early next month. Senate leaders were uncertain on a timetable.

The bill will call for appointment of federal registrars by the Civil Service Commission to guarantee that all qualified persons are permitted to vote in areas where fewer than 50 per cent of those qualified are registered, or where fewer than 50 per cent voted in last year's presidential election.

British Urge Truce, Talks

Gromyko Booked For London Parley

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived in London today for four days of talks. The British are proposing that the Soviets join them in seeking an informal cease-fire in Viet Nam followed by peace negotiations.

Government sources said the British formula was worked out with President Johnson's terms for negotiations in mind.

The British plan calls for the Soviet Union to persuade Communist North Viet Nam to stop sending aid to the Viet Cong guerrillas in the South. Gromyko will be told this would not necessarily spell doom for the Viet Cong if, as the Communists claim, they represent a nationalist cause, the sources said.

In return, the British would undertake to persuade the United States to halt its air strikes against North Viet Nam.

The British feel a formal cease-fire would be too difficult to supervise since there is no fixed front in the Vietnamese war.

Once the fighting stops, the British want to launch negotiations for a settlement that would safeguard the international status and internal stability of South Viet Nam. The British feel this would probably involve international supervision, possibly by the United Nations, of the border between North and South Viet Nam.

Talks could be conducted through diplomatic channels, at a special conference on Viet Nam or in a roundabout way, by convening a conference on Laos. The latter course would cause less loss of face for all.

Britain and the Soviet Union were co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochinese war and partitioned Viet Nam.

Study of Ohio Grad Quality Is Said Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A resolution calling for a comprehensive study by the Board of Regents of education at all levels, "qualitatively and quantitatively," is being proposed in the Ohio House today by Rep. Carol D. Long, R-Champaign.

"No one seems to know what the quality of our graduates and students is," the Urbana legislator said. "What we should be most concerned about is the quality. We want to know where we are in weak providing an adequate training. If we are failing, we want to know where and why . . ."

Resolution Requiring Bids Fails To Gain Board Okay

A resolution that would require the county to advertise for bids prior to purchasing cars and stationwagons failed to gain approval during yesterday's meeting of the Board of County Commissioners.

The resolution was submitted by Commissioner Charles Morris Jr. A motion by Morris to introduce the measure failed "due to the lack of a move to second" the proposal.

Although the measure was denied passage its first time around, Morris indicated today that the proposal will be submitted again. He said he feels the effort to acquire bids is the only fair way to handle the county's purchase of vehicles.

His measure also included a section calling for proper advertisement of bids on all county purchases in excess of $1,000. This phase of the resolution would go into effect Jan. 1, 1966.

IN GENERAL terms, the Morris resolution would require bids on all autos and stationwagons purchased for use by county employees, including elected and appointed officials. This requirement would be in effect immediately following enactment.

The provision for all purchases in excess of $1,000 would be in force starting Jan. 1, 1966.

Morris said he is highly critical of methods previously utilized by the county in purchase of vehicles and other commodities that cost more than $1,000. He said bidding procedures seldom, if ever,

School Fund Boost Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A move to boost subsidies for public schools $55 million beyond "built in increases in the foundation program is under way in the Ohio Senate."

Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, Senate Education Committee chairman, said the proposal for introduction has bi-partisan backing.

The measure calls for about $18 million for hard-pressed school districts in addition to $37 million tagged by the administration for a two-year period.

The bill would include the $37 million in the foundation formula without earmarking after the two-year period. The measure also would make provision for contributions by local school boards to the teacher retirement fund for the $200 bonuses.

The state-wide contribution was estimated at $4 million annually.

Ohio Water Plans In LBJ Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio water resources projects were included in a $360 million appropriation request President Johnson sent to Congress Monday to get the $1.1 billion Appalachian economic development program under way.

The funds would enable the Army Corps of Engineers to start construction on Paint Creek Reservoir in Ross County and Willow Island locks and dam. In addition, the President directed the Army Engineers to speed up construction planning of the East Fork Reservoir on the Little Miami River in Clermont County.

Once Around Roundtown

THE RESPONSE was gratifying. . . Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith sounded a plea Saturday for goat's milk for their 1-year-old son who is allergic to cow's milk. . .

Smith happily reported that he received about 15 calls from people with helpful information . . . He had been buying the goat's milk from a man in the Kingston area. . . This worked fine until the owner's two nannies went dry. . .

After Saturday's request, Smith learned of at least five sources of goat's milk right here in Pickaway County. . . One helpful person even volunteered to obtain the milk from a place in Columbus and bring it here on the way from work. . . Mr. and Mrs. Smith are convinced there are lots of people around willing to help in time of need.

Ranger 9 Lunar Probe Is Readied

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Scientists readied the Ranger 9 spacecraft today for a lunar probe Sunday after National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials set the Gemini-23 launch back one day to March 23.

NASA said Monday a conflict for the use of Atlantic missile range tracking equipment, including computers, made the change necessary.

Ranger officials said if they couldn't launch on March 21, the shot might have to be postponed until late April to have the spacecraft land in the desired area of the moon.

Gemini officials wanted to send astronauts Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young on the first Gemini mission of three orbits March 22.

NASA associate administrator Dr. Robert Seamans resolved the conflict by delaying the Gemini shot one day.

Milk Truck Blaze Starts 85 Fires

LYONS, Kan. (AP) — A burning milk truck touched off 80 to 85 grass fires Monday as it scooted along a 60-mile run from west of Lyons to Luka.

Highway patrolman Tony Benday reported that Orville Potter, 45, of Pratt, Kan., didn't know his rig was afire until he stopped at Luka.

Wooden cross members under the insulated truck bed caught fire somehow and falling members set fire to grass along the right-of-way.

Gusty winds whipped some into big fires.

One threatened six oil wells in Rice County and overtook and destroyed the Chase fire department's thousand-gallon pumper truck.

Johnson Cites Responsibility Of Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Monday night cited the responsibilities of freedom in America and he also quoted the slogan of the civil rights movement — "We shall overcome."

In his voting rights address to a joint session of Congress, he said:

"We must preserve the right of free speech and the right of free assembly. But the right of free speech does not carry with it, as has been said, the right to holler 'fire' in a crowded theater. We must preserve the right to free assembly, but free assembly does not carry with it the right to block public thoroughfares to traffic."

"We do have a right to protest and a right to march under conditions that do not infringe the constitutional rights of our neighbors. And I intend to protect all those rights as long as I am permitted to serve in this office."

He said: "It is not just Negroes but really it is all of us who must overcome the crippling legacy of bigotry and injustice. And we shall overcome."

Later he said: "These enemies too — poverty, disease and ignorance — we shall overcome."

Kiwanis Hosts Farm Guests

Approximately 74 persons attended the annual Farmer Guest Night Monday at Pickaway Arms sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis Club.

Speaker for the meeting was Clarence Maxson, a Salter Creek Twp. farmer, who described his trip to Russia, Italy and Spain. Maxson's trip was sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He supplemented his talk with colored slides.

Maxson, who spent 10 days in Russia, told of the farming methods used there. He compared the country's farm equipment and methods with those of the United States.

Senate Dem Joshes GOP About Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Freshman State Sen. Charles L. Pancake, D-Athens, headed into the Senate Finance Committee today with his "tongue-in-cheek" proposal to appropriate nearly $1 million for the Democratic Party.

Pancake, 38-year-old union official from Nelsonville, is sole sponsor of the measure which he said resulted from alleged expenditures by the Republican administration for promotion of four issues on the May Primary ballot.

Sam Hamilton, dean of Senate Republicans and longtime finance committee chairman, has remained silent on the measure but was straight-faced when he called it up for hearing less than a week after its introduction.

Pancake asks an appropriation of $939,000 to match what he said were GOP expenditures to plug the administration's $200 million bond issue and proposed permit industrial financing, state guarantees of loans to college students, and to reapportion the Ohio House.

Wording in the bill referred to "the four bond issues" on the May ballot but Pancake said Monday night this "might be attributed to the shortcomings of a freshman senator."

"I hope the committee will be in the mood to permit me to amend it. But even if it doesn't, I think I got my point across," he added.

Democrats lost control of the Senate Monday night with the return of Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, who had been absent since January because of an operation and during that time Democrats ruled 16-15.

Sen. Frank W. King, D-Lucas, Democratic leader, told newsmen no further Senate action is planned on five gubernatorial appointments rejected by Democrats during Hoffman's absence.

All five have been ordered to remain at their posts on various boards and commissions pending an attorney general's opinion on whether the Senate actually rejected the appointments. Republicans claim that 17 votes, or a majority of the Senate's entire membership, are needed to reject appointments as well as to confirm them. The votes in question were 16-15.

Five minor bills were passed Monday night.

Senate-approved proposals would reduce from four to two the number of surveyor markers required for every 10 lots in real estate developments and permit fire and casualty companies to invest up to five per cent of their capital surplus.

Life insurance companies were given similar authorization by the legislature two years ago.

The House received 18 new bills and approved earlier measures clarifying municipal court appeal procedures and statutes covering credit life insurance.

Rep. Harold Romer, D-Mercer, introduced the lower chamber's second "pop tax" proposal, which would levy a half-penny-a-bottle tax on soft drinks to pay 35 per cent of the cost of municipal sewage operations.

An earlier proposal would tax soft drinks a penny a bottle with the revenue going to schools and mental health programs.

Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood, proposed payment of $5 a meeting and travel allowance of 10 cents a mile for members of joint vocational district school boards.

Other House bills would permit county commissioners to create day care centers for children of low income families, suspend probationary driver's licenses for moving traffic violations and permit boys under 18 to work until 11 p.m. instead of the present 10 p.m.

Resolutions offered would amend the constitution to lower the voting residency requirement from one year to six months and clarify the law covering voting power of the lieutenant governor.

Rep. John C. McDonald, D-Licking, proposed a study of present law to find the reason for its "failure . . . to control water pollution."

Hoffman's first act after returning to the Senate was to offer a resolution for a federal constitutional change requiring that 15 per cent of the federal income taxes collected in Ohio be returned to the state.

Rising Tide Of Revolt Hits U.S. Universities

NEW YORK (AP) — A rising tide of revolt spearheaded by a new breed of student is sweeping colleges and universities across the land.

From the Ivy League schools of the Northeast to the casual campuses of the West Coast, deep student displeasure with some aspects of higher education has replaced the frivolous high jinks.

There is a growing trend toward sit-ins, picket lines and protest rallies.

The abrupt resignations of the respected Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University of California, and his Berkeley chancellor, Martin Meyerson, following student protests there are examples of the consequences the new demonstrations can bring.

Kerr and Meyerson withdrew their resignations Saturday after a five-hour closed meeting with the university Board of Regents.

Similar but less explosive protests have cropped up at Yale, St. John's University in New York, Brooklyn College, Princeton, Washington College in Chestertown, Md., the University of North Carolina, the University of Washington in Seattle and Hampton Institute in Virginia.

Faculty members sometimes side with the students. A young Yale philosophy teacher, Richard J. Bernstein, who was denied tenure despite mass student protests earlier this month, described the student action as "one of the great moments in the recent history of Yale."

"I hope the spirit of last week will continue to develop," he said. The spirit shows every sign of doing just that.

Not only has it hit the big, publicly supported universities like the University of California, and Ivy League schools like Yale — it recently broke out at what is regarded as a more disciplined kind of school, St. John's in New York, the nation's largest Roman Catholic university.

At California and elsewhere, students complain of being "cogs" in educational "factories." They talk of contact between professor and student, and of the need to "get involved" in politics.

The individual generally credited with bringing matters to an explosive head is Mario Savio, 22, former philosophy student at California who led the Free Speech Movement's massive protest there earlier this year.

Savio points to the mushrooming size of modern universities and the resulting isolation felt by students.

Among other things, Savio is concerned that professors no longer have time to engage in the creative art of teaching because they are expected to do research in order to give society the skills it needs to keep the economy booming.

"At Cal you're little more than an IBM card," he says. "The understanding, interest and care required to have a good undergraduate school are complete alien to the spirit of the system."

"The university is a vast public utility, which turns out factory workers in today's vineyard, the military-industrial complex. They've got to be processed in the most efficient way to see to it they have the fewest dissenting opinions. People have to suppress the very contradictions which reading books raises."

Yale students got involved in another aspect of the same question. There, 200 students staged a rally to demand tenure for Dr. Bernstein.

They maintained that in spite of his being an excellent "creative teacher," he was being dismissed because he hadn't published enough books.

They picketed for 76 hours with placards saying "Homer was a two-book man," and "could Socrates get tenure?"

Bernstein kept silent until last Wednesday, when his cause seemed lost. He described the two weeks of turmoil as "the most exciting, exhilarating and bewildering in my life."

Students at St. John's, Edward J. Burke, president of the university. They shouted disapproval of university policies and cheered pleas for greater "academic freedom."

Some complained the school was not following the precedent set by Pope John XXIII and the Ecumenical Council of Airing and discussing controversial issues.

William Graves, 21, a philosophy honor student who led the protest rally, said Father Burke "refers to himself as the father and to us as the children. We do not believe college students should be treated as recalcitrant children."

Some see the campus revolution as having gone too far. A California state senator, Jack Schrade of San Diego, said if people could see what happened at Berkeley, "there would be a general revolt against support of the institution."

There was wide support in California for Gov. Edmund G. Brown when he labeled student demands as "anarchy" and called out the highway patrol to help drag lie-in demonstrators from a campus building.

The nation's corn crop for 1964 is estimated by the Dept. of Agriculture at 3,548,604,000 bushels.

Jurors Hear Girl Friend

Abbott Trial Is Continuing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Alice Ewing, testifying she had never seen Wanda Cook alive, told of her role in helping stuff the body of the 24-year-old Kentucky nurse in a trunk and sending it to Cleveland.

"Anything that I did, I did of my own free will," Miss Ewing testified Monday in the murder trial of her boy friend, Robert R. Abbott.

She said she learned of the death of the Bellevue, Ky., nurse when Abbott came to her place of work and told her: "There was a horrible accident. That we could never be married."

Abbott, 21, Dayton, Ky., is accused of killing Miss Cook in a Cincinnati hotel room last Oct. 15.

Miss Ewing admitted that the murder gun belonged to her. She said she had bought it for her own protection, and Abbott had apparently taken it from the glove compartment of her car the day Miss Cook was slain.

Miss Ewing said it was by mutual agreement that she and Abbott decided to dispose of the body by placing it in a trunk. She related how they purchased the trunk in Covington, Ky., then delivered it by taxicab to the Cincinnati Union Terminal, and sent it to Cleveland.

Asked if she killed Miss Cook, Miss Ewing firmly replied: "No."

The defense claims Miss Ewing went to the hotel room when Abbott was not there and killed Miss Cook because of jealousy.

Other prosecution witnesses included Cleveland detective Robert Nightwine, who found the girl's body, and Thomas Cook, Bellevue, Ky., who identified the body as that of his sister's.

Ohio River Flood Doubted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Remember the Ohio River flood of last year?

Well, breathe easier. The U.S. Weather Bureau has some good news: It doesn't believe there will be a repeat this year.

"Chances are quite good for Cincinnati to get by this year without a flood on the Ohio River," Roy Lundquist, hydrologist in charge of river forecasts, said Monday.

If Lundquist's predictions holds, it'll be the first time the Ohio Valley has escaped a flood since 1960.

"We are now half way through the flood season," Lundquist said. "So far this year there has been quite a lot of precipitation in the Ohio River Basin but the heavy amounts that affect the river stages . . . have occurred when the river was at low flow."

Flood stage on the Ohio here is 52 feet. Last year's flood reached 66.2 feet, causing the deaths of at least 12 persons and forcing hundreds to evacuate their homes. The 1964 flood was the worst in 20 years.

The worst flood ever was the great flood of 1937. The surging Ohio reached a record 80 feet then before it began to recede.

The flood season is considered the five months from January through May, and records show 80 per cent of past floods were in January, February and March.

A 30-day weather forecast extending to mid-April indicates precipitation will average above the normal 4.01 inches. But, Lundquist said, the Ohio is now falling steadily toward low flow conditions and the five-day forecast calls for only about one-quarter to one-half inch of rainfall.

Ohio Labor

To Oppose

Issue No. 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio labor leaders announced Monday the reorganization of the United Organized Labor of Ohio to oppose State Issue 3, the proposed constitutional amendment to reapportion the Ohio House.

The organization was formed in 1958 and waged a successful campaign for the defeat of the so-called "right-to-work" amendment.

The latest target, the reapportionment amendment, is one of four statewide issues to go before the voters in the May 4 primary election.

Chairman of UOLO is State Sen. Frank W. King, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO. Named vice chairmen were Ellis T. Karch, representing the Railroad Brotherhood Co-op Committee, and Ronald C. Owens, secretary-treasurer of District 6, United Mineworkers of America. Robert D. Bollard, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, also will serve as secretary-treasurer of UOLO.

The amendment, drawn up by the Republican-dominated special session of the General Assembly last December, is supported by the administration of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Opponents of the measure have said passage of the amendment would permit one-party control of the House and would give the proposed seven-man apportionment board enormous discretion in forming districts.

Ohio Labor

To Oppose

Issue No. 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio labor leaders announced Monday the reorganization of the United Organized Labor of Ohio to oppose State Issue 3, the proposed constitutional amendment to reapportion the Ohio House.

The organization was formed in 1958 and waged a successful campaign for the defeat of the so-called "right-to-work" amendment.

The latest target, the reapportionment amendment, is one of four statewide issues to go before the voters in the May 4 primary election.

Chairman of UOLO is State Sen. Frank W. King, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO. Named vice chairmen were Ellis T. Karch, representing the Railroad Brotherhood Co-op Committee, and Ronald C. Owens, secretary-treasurer of District 6, United Mineworkers of America. Robert D. Bollard, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, also will serve as secretary-treasurer of UOLO.

The amendment, drawn up by the Republican-dominated special session of the General Assembly last December, is supported by the administration of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Opponents of the measure have said passage of the amendment would permit one-party control of the House and would give the proposed seven-man apportionment board enormous discretion in forming districts.

Strong Backing Given Vote Plan

(Continued from Page 1) Justice Department officials said this would apply to the states of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina. Fewer than 50 per cent voted in Alaska, but officials blamed this on cold weather, rather than discrimination.

Johnson called on Congress to work nights and weekends if necessary to pass the voting rights bill.

"There must be no delay, or no hesitation, or no compromise with our purpose," he said.

Johnson said "the real hero of this struggle is the American Negro" whose "actions and protests — his courage to risk safety, and even to risk his life — have awakened the conscience of this nation."

He defended "the right of free speech and the right of free assembly" but noted that "free assembly does not carry with it the right to block public thoroughfares to traffic."

The President spoke slowly and solemnly to the packed chamber. He was interrupted by applause about 40 times during the 45 minutes it took him to deliver his speech. Many Southern lawmakers stayed away, and many of those who were present refrained from the applause.

The absentees included the assistant Senate Democratic leader, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, who has said he would support a voting rights bill he considers reasonable. Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., to whose Senate Judiciary Committee the measure will be referred, and ailing Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., longtime floor captain of the Southern anti-civil rights bloc.

Several Southern congressmen indicated support for the measure.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said: "The probabilities are I'll vote for the bill."

Rep. George W. Grider, D-Tenn., said: "As much as I detest the need for it, we must pass legislation that assures once and for all that no one will be denied the right to vote because of the color of his skin. I shall support such legislation."

But Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., said: "The President sold out to the Negroes 100 per cent."

Sen. Ellender said: "If the President attempts to have Congress define the qualifications of voters, I'll not only oppose it but I shall filibuster against it."

Southern opponents of the 1964 Civil Rights Act delayed Senate action for three months with a filibuster that attempted to talk the bill to death. A bipartisan coalition finally broke the filibuster, and the law was passed.

Democratic congressional leaders were generally highly enthusiastic over Johnson's speech. House Speaker John W. McCormack called it "an accomplishment in the first rank of statesmanship" and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said it was "a magnificent statement of national purpose and determination."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has been conferring with administration officials in efforts to assure bipartisan support for the voting rights bill, said it was "a good speech, effective, persuasive and well pointed. It will bear fruit, I'm sure."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the President's plan was deficient in that it could penalize states which do not discriminate against Negroes and fail to resolve problems in some of that do.

"An eloquent and substantial statement," said James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality. "I can only pray that oratory becomes fact, that words become law."

Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said he was "as touched and as moved as anybody by that speech. I think he was speaking from the heart."

Both men called it the strongest such speech by any American president. The next step, Young said, is for the public to support the proposed legislation.

Her only jewelry was a rhinestone heart shaped necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Sue Dennis served as maid of honor and the only attendant of the bride. She wore a royal blue satin ballerina length gown with short sleeves and an oval neckline. A matching fabric bow held her circular veil. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds encircled by white mums fashioned after the bride's bouquet.

Mr. John Van Dine served as best man. Mr. Gary Neff and Mr. Gary Reiterman were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social room with Mrs. Gary Reiterman presiding at the guest register.

Little Girl Ends Stint In Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP) — For a while, 5-year-old Renee Kuglin will have to stand to eat her meals and watch television. But the joy of being back home for the first time in four months will help offset her hardship.

Since Nov. 20, when she played too close to a basement water heater at her home, Renee has been in hospitals here and in Cincinnati for surgery and skin grafting to repair burns covering half her body, from chin to knees.

Laden with dolls and toys, her parents and her four brothers and sisters greeted Renee Monday night when she arrived home from the Shriners' Burns Institute in Cincinnati.

She was in a complete body cast for a week and still must wear a cast over her stomach and left arm when she sleeps at night to prevent tightening of muscles and curling of body structures left weak by grafting. But during the day the little girl can run and play with her brothers and sisters.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Listen to Dad, Obey Coach

DEAR ABBY: I play basketball for our high school and so far we've had a very good season. My problem is my father. He never misses a game. He used to play basketball himself, and I guess he was pretty good. My father says the coach does not know what he is doing. So my father tells me to do one thing and my coach tells me to do another. I know I should do what my coach tells me to do, but you don't know my father. Nobody can tell him anything. Who should I listen to? Don't print my name or my father will kill me for sure.

DEAR "X": Listen to your father, but do what your coach wants you to do. Tell your father that it's teamwork that counts in basketball, and since all the other boys take their instructions from the coach you must, too, or you'll be letting the team down.

DEAR ABBY: I know it's perfectly all right to remind children to keep their feet off the furniture, but how about adults who should know better? I have one friend in particular who puts her feet up on my polished wood coffee table. She even sits with one foot tucked underneath her like a teen-aged girl, and she soils my sofa cushions with her dirty shoes. My husband says I should let it go as it's not nice to correct guests, especially this one because she has a very sensitive nature. She just burns me up. I still think I should tell her. Who's right?

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

DEAR HIGH: High blood pressure (yours) is more serious than a sensitive nature (hers), and I think you should tell her — in a gentle way, of course.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a secretary who sits and thinks up gifts for all the employees to give the boss? His birthday is coming up soon and she wants all of us to pitch in and buy him 100 pairs of stretch socks so she can hang them all upon a clothesline in his office and surprise him! No one objects to the cost, it's the stupid idea that annoys us.

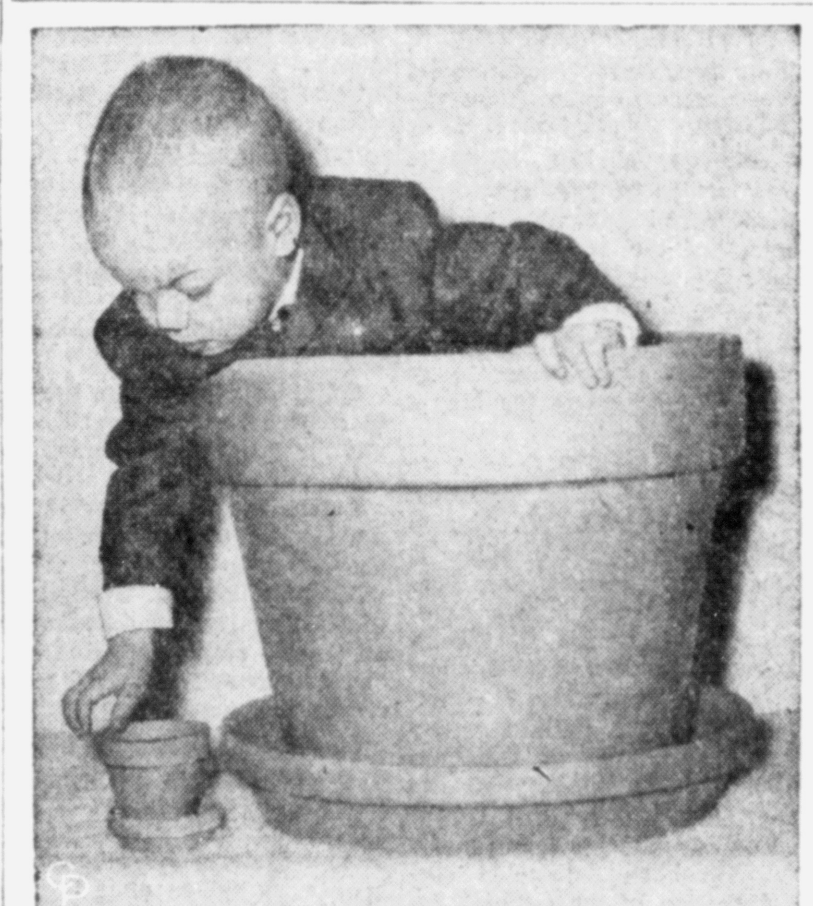

I say if she wants to give the boss socks for his birthday, she should go ahead and do it. But why involve the rest of us? We would like your opinion of this.

ONE OF MANY

DEAR ONE: If you disapprove of the choice of gift, ask the secretary who dreamed up the idea to count you out. Socks are a rather intimate gift for employees to give their employer and I don't blame you for not wanting to put your foot in it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "LIKES UNIFORMS" that she shouldn't feel bad. The same thing happened to me. I accepted and engaged a ring from a young lieutenant in the AIR FORCE. Then he came back to visit me in his civvies, and I couldn't stand him. I soon realized that it was his uniform that got me, so I gave him my ring back.

Good No-Bake Cheese Cake

By ALICE DENHOFF

It may sound like a paradox, but you can turn out a luscious cheese cake just as easily in the refrigerator as in the oven.

But, chilled or baked, every cheesecake must have a texture that remains firm on the plate yet melts in the mouth. This one should and does.

NO-BAKE CHEESE CAKE

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3/4 c. sugar, divided
1/4 tsp. salt
3 eggs separated
1 1-3 c. evaporated milk
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/4 c. lemon juice
1 tsp. vanilla
3 c. (8 oz. each) creamed cottage cheese

Crumb Topping (recipe follows)

Mix gelatin, 1/2 c. of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and evaporated milk; add to gelatin mixture.

Cook over boiling water, stirring until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly.

Remove from heat; add lemon rind and juice and vanilla; cool. Sieve cottage cheese into large mixing bowl; beat with electric beater until smooth. Stir in cooled gelatin mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon.

While mixture is chilling, prepare the topping and set aside. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup of sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into the gelatin and cheese mixture.

CRUMB TOPPING

1/2 tsp. melted butter
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/2 c. graham cracker crumbs
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

Mix together all ingredients. Turn cheese cake mixture into 8-in. spring form pan; sprinkle with crumb topping. Chill until firm.

If desired, an 8- or 9-in. square pan or a 9x5-in. loaf pan may be used; line it with waxed paper.

Press crumb mixture into bottom of pan, then turn in cheese cake mixture. This is a party recipe since the yield is 10-12 servings.

Now we have a good custard sauce that can be a life-saver for quickie desserts. Spoon it over plain cake or over stewed or canned fruit for a nice if simple dessert.

QUICK CUSTARD SAUCE

1 c. evaporated milk
1/2 c. water
1/2 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
1 tsp. vanilla, almond or sherry flavoring, optional

Combine milk and water; add to pudding mix in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thick enough to coat spoon. Cool. Add extract, if desired; chill.

Incidentally, this makes a fine base for floating island dessert and it does add another dimension to gelatin molds. Make 1 2-3 c.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All-Ohio Roger Markle of Newark today was named the No. 1 Class AA high school basketball player in the central district, and the Class A laurels went to Bill Leftwich, who paced Plain City Jonathan Alder into the regional tournaments.

A board of sports editors selected the standouts as they picked the all-area team for the Associated Press. Coach John Colmery of Columbus South was named the Class AA mentor of the year, and Cliff Rose of Jonathan Alder won the smaller school award. Markle was on the 1964 All-Ohio.

7-Foot-1 Cager In Top Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 New York schoolboy basketball whiz who is being sought by more than 50 colleges, will visit the campuses of five colleges soon, says his coach, Jack Donohue. Alcindor is a senior at Power Memorial. "Lewie will visit UCLA, Michigan, Boston College, St. John's, N.Y., and New York University," said Donohue Monday. "That doesn't mean the field is narrowed down to these five. After he visits these, he may want to look at a few more."

Villanova, St. John's Win in NIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Villanova shouldn't have lost the ball but almost did. St. John's should have lost it but didn't.

Both teams converted the plays into field goals that turned the basketball games their way Monday night and enabled them to move into Thursday night's semifinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

Top-seeded Villanova edged stubborn Manhattan 73-71 and will meet the winner of tonight's Detroit-New York University contest. St. John's knocked off second-seeded New Mexico 61-54 and will battle the winner of the Army-Western Kentucky game.

Villanova, the nation's eighth-ranked team, trailed Manhattan 70-69 until Bill Melchionni threw in a jump shot with 2½ minutes remaining. That put the Wildcats ahead to stay after they had trailed for most of the second half.

Melchionni, however, nearly lost his chance to score the basket. His head turned away from the play, he bobbled a routine pass from Eric Erickson but got control of it and scored on a nine-foot shot.

In St. John's case, it was a ball that Jerry Houston saved from going out of bounds that was the difference.

"I heard Coach (Jack) Kraft say something," explained Melchionni, who was near the Villanova bench at the time. "I didn't know who he was talking to, but I turned around anyway just for a split second. Then the guys on the bench yelled, 'Heads up!'"

"I must confess I didn't see the ball. I didn't know where it was. I just put up my hands in self defense. It was a reflex action. The ball hit me in the head. Anywhere else, a foot either way, and I would've missed it. It would have gone out of bounds."

But it hit me in the head, and I grabbed it. (Manhattan's Len) Schnappauf lunged for it and I went the other way."

Kraft explained his words were meant for Melchionni, that he was telling him to move out and get the ball. Kraft, however, didn't intend for the play to work the way it did.

Melchionni sank a free throw a minute later, and Manhattan's hope for an upset was crushed. Spoiled also was the brilliant performance of the Jaspers' Larry Lembo, who scored 31 points, hitting 13 of 18 from the field.

Redlegs Use Long Ball To Trip Champs

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds used the long ball Monday in downing St. Louis 8-6 at St. Petersburg. It was the second straight exhibition triumph for the Reds.

Frank Robinson and rookie Tony Perez each slugged two-measure home runs, Deron Johnson belted his third double in as many games; Tommy Harper doubled and singled, and Pete Rose socked a triple and scored three runs.

Perez made it known he's very much in the running for the Reds' first base job with his 400-foot plus homer. He clubbed 34 homers for the San Diego farm club last season.

Reichelderfer was one of the leading rebounders on the Logan Elm quintet that went to the Central District finals in tournament play. He accumulated 180 points in season and tournament play.

5 Area Boys All-District Cage Picks

Five area high school basketball players were named to the All-Central District Basketball teams that were announced today by the Associated Press.

Making the first team Class A unit was Logan Elm's Jeff Lutz, a veteran performer at both guard and forward. Teammate Darryl Reichelderfer, a junior center, was accorded honorable mention.

In the Class AA division, Bill Fortner of Teays Valley was picked for second team honors. Mate Dave Reese was awarded honorable mention honors.

Circleville's jumping John Thomas, who owns five modern day cage records at CHS, also was named to the second team.

Lutz, Fortner and Thomas were the leading scorers for their respective teams.

Thomas had a total of 350 points, including the CHS tournament game, for an average of just under 18 points per contest for the Tigers.

Fortner fired in points at a clip of 17.7 per game. He finished the season with 336 markers.

Lutz, the Braves' key playmaker for the Braves quintet, finished the season with 284 markers. This gave him an average of 12.9 points per outing.

Reese, who alternated between forward and guard for the Vikings, finished the season with 264 points. He had one single game effort of 30 points for one of the top Teays Valley scoring performances.

Reichelderfer was one of the leading rebounders on the Logan Elm quintet that went to the Central District finals in tournament play. He accumulated 180 points in season and tournament play.

Braves, Giants Moaning, But Pirates Are Elated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS For Hank Aaron, there's an operation. For Juan Marichal, there's irritation. But for Del Crandall, there's rejuvenation.

The Pittsburgh Pirates undoubtedly were the most elated of the three teams involved in that lonesome Monday. In fact, the other two teams — Milwaukee and San Francisco — were far from elated.

While the Braves learned that Aaron will have to undergo surgery on his left ankle and the Giants' Marichal suffered a hamstring muscle pull in his right leg, Crandall ignited a 14-run Pirate inning with a single and followed with two more in his five-inning workout.

Aaron planned to fly to Milwaukee today where he will have the operation Wednesday. After doctors remove an area of calcification in the tendon, the Braves' ace slugger will have to rest for two or three weeks before rejoining the team.

Aaron finished third in National League hitting last season with a .328 average despite missing the last several weeks because of the ankle injury. He clubbed 24 homers and drove in 95 runs.

Marichal, who missed nearly a month last year because of a back ailment en route to a 21-8 record, was running in the outfield when he hurt his leg. Trainer Frank Bowman applied ice to it for an hour and said the injury did not appear to be serious.

"He'll be slowed for a couple of days, though," Bowman added.

Ahijevych on Third All-Big Ten Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Andy Ahijevych of Ohio State was a third team selection on the Big Ten's All-Academic basketball team named Monday.

Bob Dove, another Buckeye, received honorable mention.

ed for Cincinnati. The Reds are in Bradenton today for a game with the Kansas City Athletics.

Tribe Rookie Hurlers Show Big Effort

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Some of the Cleveland Indians' rookie pitchers act like they are trying to take attention from the veteran hurlers.

Three of them came through with fine performances Monday as the Indians downed the Chicago Cubs, 5-3, in 11 innings at Mesa. The triumph gave the Indians a 7-2 exhibition mark, including a four-game sweep in Mexico and two "B" games with the Los Angeles Angels.

Daryl Farnsworth worked the last two innings and got credit for the victory. He allowed two hits and struck out three of the eight batters he faced. The 19-year-old right-hander also singled to drive in an insurance run after Tony Martinez hit a two-bagger to break a 3-3 tie in the 11th.

Steve Hargan, who was 11-9 with Portland in the Pacific Coast League last season, shut out the Cubs on three hits in the four innings he worked.

George Culver, the most highly rated of the three young right-handers, gave up five hits and was charged with three runs, but was given poor support by his teammates.

Leon Wagner, Vic Davalillo and Billy Moran got two hits apiece to lead the Indians' 11-hit attack.

U.S. Open Booked for June 17-20

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1965 U.S. Open Golf Championship will be played June 17-20 at the Bellevue Country Club in St. Louis — with an extra day of competition, a bigger pot and more automatic qualifiers than ever before.

Ground rules for this year's Open, announced Monday by the United States Golf Association, provide for a final starting field of 150 golfers, eliminate the last-day double round in favor of four single rounds of 18 holes each, set prize money at a record $125,000 and continue qualifying rounds at local and sectional levels.

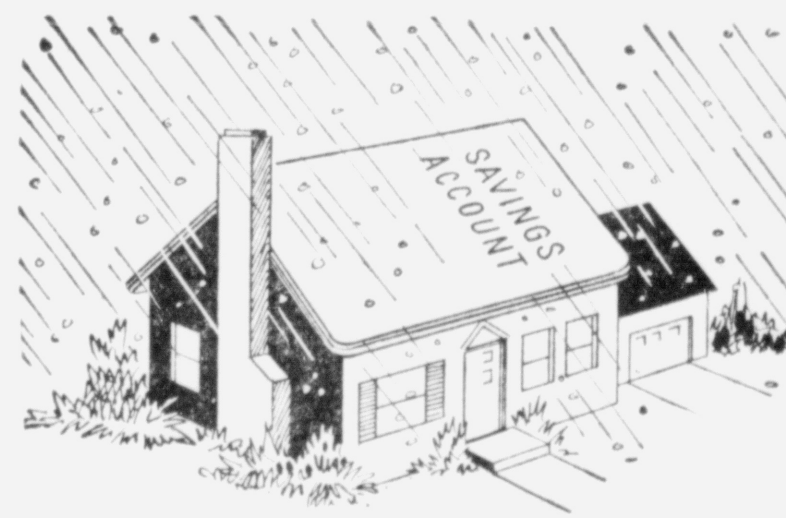

The USGA increased by 10 the number of automatic qualifiers to the championship and also boosted the number of exemptions for local qualifying.

The 15 lowest scorers in the 1964 Open, the 15 top money winners as of the last PGA tournament before the May 5 deadline for Open entries and the last five Open winners — Ken Venturi, Julius Boros, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer — are assured of places in the championship starting field.

Also exempt from the qualifying rounds are 1964 U.S. Amateur champion Billy Campbell, 1964 PGA champion Bobby Nichols and 1964 British Open titlist Tony Lema.

WHO'S ON THIRD?—Cincinnati manager Dick Sisler (right) has something of a problem as he looks over the four candidates for the third base job in the Reds' Tampa, Fla., training camp. The hopefuls are Chico Ruiz (15), Tony Perez (24), Deron Johnson (11), Steve Boros (10).

Four Horseman Says 1924 Team Would Look Good Even Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — The four horsemen of Notre Dame built a football legend in 1924, but how would they do against modern opponents?

Don C. Miller, one of three surviving members of the famed four, thinks that despite their comparative lightness the horsemen would look as good today as they did when Knute Rockne piloted the Fighting Irish to an undefeated season and the mythical national championship.

"Rockne was ten years ahead of all the other coaches," Miller declared in an interview in his law office here.

"He built his offense on speed and deception. We'd pass sometimes on first down. They never knew whether we were going to pass or run."

He compared Rockne's style to today's professional game.

Miller weighed 162 pounds when he played halfback at Notre Dame. The other halfback, Jim Crowley, was 164. Fullback Elmer Layden was 162 and quarterback Harry Stuhldreher, who died Jan. 26, was 134. Only three of the line-men—dubbed the Seven Mules—were over 160.

It was a light team, even then.

"The New York Sports writers accused Rockne of giving out phony weights," said Miller. "One day when we were playing in the east, Rockne called on the scales. None of them ever questioned his word again."

Notre Dame played a tough schedule in 1924. The Nebraska team they beat 34-6 "was just as large as the largest team last year," said Miller.

Miller and his four brothers all played football at Notre Dame.

Brother Harry set a tough pace for the others to follow at Notre Dame when he was named to Walter Camp's All-America team in 1909.

Ray Miller, a dominant force in Cleveland politics for four decades, was a teammate of Rockne. Walter starred with the Irish in 1919. Jerry and Don were in Notre Dame together.

Ask Don which of the five was the best player and he answers "Harry."

But it is Don's name that lingers in the record books. He scored 22 touchdowns in three seasons—one of several school marks that stood until the two platoon system wrecked records. His rushing average of 6.83 yards (1,933 yards on 283 carries) still stands as a Notre Dame record.

Rockne wrote a sports writer in 1930 that Don Miller "was the greatest open field runner I ever had."

Miller has the letter framed on his office wall along with pictures of the four horsemen and a portrait of Rockne against a background depicting the horsemen charging across a misty field.

"That was a great time to live—the '20s," said Miller, fingering a folder full of photographs. "Not only from the point of view of athletics... there was some great music, some great shows on Broadway... those wonderful Victor Herbert shows."

"We were the transitional group—from the small to the large football crowd. The Rose Bowl started to draw big crowds. Then there was the Notre Dame-Army classic that drew crowds in New York every year."

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — By a coincidence of timing, television viewers watching a CBS channel Monday evening could observe the vast and dramatic distance between the responsibilities of the president of the United States and those of the man who stands a heartbeat away, the vice president.

Shortly after 9 p.m. President Johnson appeared before the Congress — and the nation — to call for prompt civil rights legislation in a speech which also touched on other facets of his administration's plan for the Great Society.

It was followed by a half-hour CBS news program which demonstrated the crowded daily schedule of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, plus an interview in which Humphrey explained his concept of his position and his relationship to the President and the presidency.

One day last week, CBS cameras trailed the vice president through hours primarily filled with social functions.

Later, talking with reporters, the vice president expressed gratitude that the President keeps him constantly informed, adding that often in the past "presidents used to ignore" their No. 2 men.

The program provided reassuring insight into a difficult, delicate job.

Lesley Ann Warren, who was the Cinderella girl in CBS' recent production of "Cinderella," follows up with a dramatic role — no singing or dancing — in next Sunday's episode of "For the People."

NBC will move Joseph C. Harsch, its veteran London news chief, to the Washington diplomatic beat, and send Elie Abel to London as bureau chief, all effective July 1.

Reflecting tonight: Telephone Hour, NBC, 10-11 (EST) — Burl Ives, Pat Page with Red Nichols and the Five Pennies are among the guest stars.

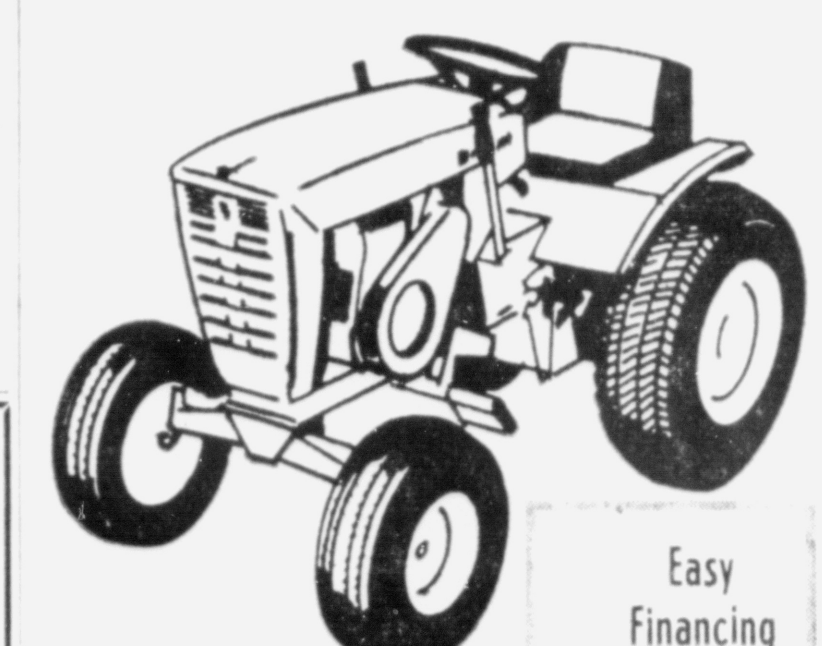

In three full seasons with the Yankees left fielder Tom Tresh has hit 20, 52 and 16 home runs respectively.

E-B-I Day Offers Detailed Look at Local Education

A sneak preview of scheduled activity indicates an interesting and worthwhile program is in the offing for Wednesday's Education-Business-Industry Day.

All four school districts in the city and county will host area business and industry personnel during an all-day session. The American educational system at the local level will be on display.

Playing hosts will be the Teays Valley, Logan Elm, Westfall and Circleville School Districts. Classes will be in session as usual.

Visitors will get a first hand look at daily teaching methods, in addition to the many other factors essential to the operation of a school system.

THE SCHOOL districts have devoted considerable time to arranging programs that will be of interest to business industry visitors. Both high school and elementary activities will be included.

Each district has compiled a schedule which will be followed during the visitation. A typical sequence of events is the agenda prepared at Circleville. It includes:

Questions, Answers on Voting Plan

A. The simple fact that fewer than 50 per cent of all eligible voters are registered, or turned out in November 1964, will automatically trigger the law abolishing all restrictions except the basic standards of age, residence, mental competence and lack of felony convictions. Complaints to the Justice Department by a certain number of Negroes that discrimination persisted would empower the attorney general to ask the Civil Service Commission to name a federal registrar — it could be the postmaster, for example — to register the aggrieved applicants. (The number of required complainants has not yet been set, but it is expected to be around 20.)

Q. Doesn't the Constitution give the states the right to decide who is eligible to vote?

A. Generally, Article I of the Constitution reserves that right for the states in electing senators and representatives. But the administration bill is keyed to the 15th Amendment, passed 95 years ago this month. It stipulates that the right of citizens to vote "shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude." The amendment — like most — authorizes Congress to enforce it "by appropriate legislation."

Q. Didn't the Civil Rights Act of 1964 have some machinery for ending voter discrimination?

A. As proposed by President John F. Kennedy, it did. But most of that machinery was dismantled in the process of compromise to get the bill through Congress. About all that remains is a provision to speed up the court remedies for such discrimination. And it is the long court process this bill seeks to avoid, on the ground that past election malpractices can never be truly remedied.

Q. How immediate would be the impact of this new law?

A. Its backers hope it will guarantee the vote to all by the November 1966 general elections.

Q. What should a Negro do if he is blocked in his attempt to register after the law is passed?

A. Complain to the Justice Department or to the nearest U.S. attorney.

Q. Will the bill carry any penalty for interference with registration and voting attempts?

A. Yes — any official or private citizen who attempted to interfere would be subject — upon conviction in a criminal trial — to a $5,000 fine and five years in prison.
